99 Bottles is the Best Beer Store in Western Washington

October 29, 2009, Federal Way, Wash.—99 Bottles is the “Best Beer Store in Western Washington” according to KING 5 TV’s Evening Magazine 2009 consumer poll results.

The “Best of Western Washington” is a year-round online guide, where consumers can give feedback on local businesses, and voting for “The Best” takes place just six weeks of each year. This year’s balloting ended Sunday, October 11. More than 160 consumers posted word-of-mouth reviews about Federal Way’s premiere beer store, 99 Bottles, on this online guide, with hundreds casting their vote for the family owned business.

Husband and wife team, Craig and Tiffany Adamowski, opened the business in January 2007. Their concept is similar to a wine store, but without the focus on the grape—99 Bottles is all about beer!

“Through 99 Bottles, we have been able to share our passion for good beer with the local community, and it’s wonderful to have our customers recognize us for this effort,” said Tiffany, co-owner and the store’s ‘beer mom’. In celebration of the win, and to thank the beer store’s customers, she says, “Forget the morning coffee. We’ll be celebrating with Coffee Beer & Donuts on Saturday, November 7.”

99 Bottles invites all, 21 years and older, to celebrate 99 Bottle’s win of “Best Beer Store in Western Washington” on November 7, from 10:00 a.m. until 12:00 p.m. Three coffee beers will be poured. The cost is just $2.50, with valid ID, to partake in the samples and have a donut; 99 Bottles Club Members pay just $1.
